11. Current problems/ Issues for discussion in your country?

Since the Plenary meeting in Berlin 2002 the great challenge for hospital doctors in Norway has been negotiations about wage level and working conditions after the implementation of the new public health enterprise system.

As earlier told, 5 regional public health enterprises (RHE) are established. The enterprises are entirely owned by the Norwegian state. In each region there are public health enterprises (HE) subordinated the RHE. Each of the HE consists of either one or more hospitals. The total amount of HE is at the time 41.

The wage-system and working conditions for hospital physicians were planned to be renegotiated in spring 2002. On behalf of the senior hospital physicians, Of wanted agreements ensuring flexibility and possibilities for local freedom in order to obtain responsibility, successful management, efficient medical treatment and focus on medical research and continuous medical education.

After some meetings the distance turned out too far to get an acceptable result before the summer holiday. A decision was made to continue in August.

Early September 2002 a new negotiation system was finally agreed between NMA and NAVO (the new association for employers).

1. National level (A1) General agreements concerning regulations like sickness benefit, leave of absence and pension negotiated between NAVO and the Association of professionals, Akademikerne. (NMA is a member of this association).

2. National level (A2) Agreements about the wage-system and working conditions for members of the NMA. Negotiated between NAVO and NMA.

3. Local level (B). Agreements negotiated between the public health enterprises and the local members of the NMA.

There were extensive discussions whether different elements had to be ensured by national minimum standards in A2. Especially for junior hospital physicians such standards were considered of great importance.

It was a great step forward when it was agreed that the wage level for physicians should not be reduced according to the new agreement system; other things being equal...

The negotiations on local level (B) turned out to be very complicated, concerning both new local agreements and demands for higher wages. The local representatives met complicated challenges, and at least 2/3 of them needed assistance from the central organisation. Days and nights passed, but finally the agreement was signed January 31th, 2003.

An important result is a considerable improvement in basic wage level, a step forward to estimate the value of competence and better compensation for on guard duty. Some physicians now want to reduce the number of extended working hours.
