The French Medical Council has obtained important guarantees regarding the need for physicians to feel secure in their decision to offer their patients the vaccination and in its administration. CNOM has reiterated its full commitment, and that of physicians, to the Covid-19 vaccination campaign. CNOM reminded the Health Minister that it was the responsibility of the State to provide effective answers to the issues related to the responsibility of physicians in the vaccination decision, and to the expectations of citizens in the management of possible post-vaccination effects, while the compulsory nature of vaccination has been ruled out.
